

3.2.1
Research funding received by the institution and its faculties through Government and non- government sources such as industry, corporate houses, international bodies for research project, Endowment Research Chairs

Preamble

MITADTU is committed to advancing research through robust financial support received from both government and non-government sources. Over the last five years, faculty members and research departments have secured significant funding from industries, corporate houses, international bodies, and other external agencies. These funds have been directed toward various research projects, including the establishment of Endowment Research Chairs, which further enhance the institution's academic capabilities. This financial support demonstrates the institution’s growing research influence and its active engagement with diverse funding agencies to foster innovation and knowledge creation. All details related to this metric are available in the table below.
